January 5, 2012

THE MATHIS GROUP, INC. SELECTS CADENCE McSHANE FOR 45,000 S.F. EAGLEBURGMANN HQ CONSTRUCTION ASSIGNMENT

(Four-Story Addition and Two-Story Renovation of Existing Facility to Offer Customized Space and Close Proximity to Firm's Manufacturing Operations)

(Houston, Texas) – Chuck White, Vice President - Division Manager of Cadence McShane Construction Company, is pleased to announce that Freudenberg Immobilien Management and The Mathis Group, Inc. recently awarded the firm the 45,000 square foot headquarters facility expansion and interior renovation assignment on behalf of EagleBurgmann Industries LP.

Cadence McShane will complete a new four-story addition to the existing two-story facility utilizing similar tiltwall and glass components to provide a seamless integration of the design scheme. Together with this sizable new construction portion, Cadence McShane will also complete comprehensive interior renovations in both buildings that will include contemporary private offices, open workstation modules, updated conference rooms, a training room and testing laboratories, in addition to employee amenities such as employee locker rooms and break rooms.

“Cadence McShane has extensive experience completing office renovations and additions for global firms,” remarks White. “We look forward to delivering this high-quality, customized office environment for EagleBurgmann that will serve to augment and enhance its growing U.S. operations.”

Founded in 1977 as a subsidiary of EagleBurgmann Germany of Wolfratshausen, Germany, EagleBurgmann Industries LP focuses on high-end sealing applications for the oil and gas industry. Since launching manufacturing operations in Houston, Texas in 1986, the company has firmly established itself in the U.S. mechanical seal market with additional investments in a second Houston manufacturing facility.

EagleBurgmann’s U.S. corporate headquarters is strategically located at 10035 Brookriver Drive on the Beltway 8 and 290 Corridor in Houston, Texas offering direct southern access to its Pasadena and Clute, Texas manufacturing facilities. The Houston office facility houses the sales, marketing and manufacturing operations and this expansion will allow the EagleBurgmann team to better accommodate the growing demand for its product.

Construction is scheduled to begin this month and will reach completion in December 2012. The Mathis Group, Inc. is providing construction management services and Powers Brown Architecture is serving as project architect.
